CARE INTEGRATION
AFHP was one of two Title X grantees leading the Family Planning National Training Center’s Primary Care Peer Learning Group of over 15 participating agencies. AFHP’s experience and expertise related to the integration of family planning and primary care within Federally Qualified Health Centers were shared with everyone involved to begin or enhance their own integration models.

ADDITIONAL GRANTS
AFHP was awarded two grants from the Maricopa County Department of Public Health. One went towards developing the Collective Resource Hub Website for youth-serving professionals to share resources and materials. Nearly 2,000 people have visited the site since it debuted. The other grant was for professional development and used to conduct three Introduction to Reproductive Health trainings for youth-serving professionals.

OUTCOMES OF TITLE X SERVICES
Title X services provided in 2018 saved Arizona taxpayers an estimated $49 million in maternal health and birth related costs.

AFHP SERVED MORE THAN 35,000 WOMEN MEN & TEENS
by providing services that prevented an estimated 670 chlamydia and gonorrhea infections and 5,890 unintended pregnancies.

These unintended pregnancies would have resulted in 1,990 abortions, 1,130 miscarriages and 2,770 unplanned births.

STD SCREENING
The Arizona Department of Health Services (ADHS) provided funding to AFHP to continue the Chlamydia Screening Project. Of the 13,704 female clients 24 years and younger served at AFHP-funded health centers, 85% (n=11,591) were tested for Chlamydia during 2018.

ADOLESCENT HEALTH
AFHP began partnering with 3 health centers to implement Arizona’s Adolescent Champion Model with the goal of improving healthcare delivery for adolescent patients. Dr. Vinny Chulani, Section Chief of Adolescent Medicine at Phoenix Children’s Hospital, is the clinical consultant for the initiative and presented the keynote address at the University of Michigan’s Adolescent Conference. A second cohort of health centers began this Summer.

COMMUNITY OUTREACH & TRAINING
The AFHP Program team participated in 30 community events and professional conferences around the state reaching approximately 3,500 students, community members and healthcare professionals through tabling and networking activities. In addition, AFHP staff conducted professional development trainings to over 400 individuals on various reproductive health topics including adolescent health services, Chlamydia screening guidelines and best practices for male healthcare services. Staff also served on multiple coalitions and advisory boards including Collective Step for Youth, Rural Women’s Health Network and the Family Planning Councils of America.
